NAMUR IS TAKEN BY GERMANS AND FRENCH RETREAT THREE NATIONS CLOSE IN ON GERMANY IN THE ORIENT AS DUAL MONARCHY THROWS GAGE BEFORE JAPANESE

AUSTRIA RUSHES TO AID ALLY--DECLARES WAR UPON MIKADO

VIENNA, Aug. 25.—Austria today declared war against Japan. The formal declaration was served on the Japanese ambassador and he was handed his passports and will leave for Rome as soon as possible. The declaration of war was decided on at a council of the ministry at which the action of Japan in declaring war on Germany was discussed.

RUSSIANS KEEP UP ADVANCE INTO HOSTILE COUNTRY

Invasion of Austria by Two Armies Reported to Be Successful

GENERAL ENGAGEMENT IS NEAR

Czar's Troops Have Not Yet Penetrated Any of Main Prussian Forts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The Russian invasion of Austria by two armies, cooperating across a wide stretch of territory, continues. An Austrian cavalry division is reported to have been routed by Cossacks in a fight near the frontier town of Podwoloczyska, the Cossacks taking many prisoners. The general Russian movement is in co-operation with the forces operating across the eastern part of Prussia.

It is stated at the war office that the operations in Prussia and Austria are now so well developed that a general engagement is imminent. The Russian forces have not yet penetrated any of the main Prussian fortifications, the brunt of the fighting along the railroad extending westward from Eydkuhnen to Insterburg having taken place in the open country.

The war office announced that the Russian forces have now occupied several passages of the lower Karpathian mountains and are in force between the mountains and the Sereth river.

Continuing on the offensive and pressing the Germans by forced marches, the Russians have seized several passages south of Tarnopol on the river Sereth. Several fighting is reported, but the Germans retired at every point.

GERMAN SOURCES CONFIRM STORIES EMPEROR IS ILL

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 25.—News from German sources confirm the report that Emperor Francis Joseph has been stricken and is in a very serious condition. It is reported in Berlin that his exertions in endeavoring to get the army ready to assist Germany brought on an attack which forced him to his bed and he has gradually grown weaker. One report reaching here stated that his death was considered only a matter of hours. It is impossible, however, to obtain news of his exact condition or the exact nature of his malady.

JAPAN READY TO GO OUT OF ORIENT TO AID OF HER ALLY ENGLAND

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Japan may be drawn outside of the far east into a more distant theater of war, an official of the Japanese embassy declared today.

Despite Japan's assurances to this country that she intended to confine her war activities to the orient, the Japanese diplomat, who for obvious reasons refused to be quoted, said the scope of Japan's action depends largely on her ally, Great Britain.

If war exigencies of England should require assistance by Japan outside of the far east, this Japanese official stated, Nippon, by her treaty obligations would be forced seriously to consider giving assistance outside of Asia.

JAPS CO-OPERATE WITH BRITISH AND RUSSIANS IN EAST

Forces of Three Powers Descend on the German Possession of Kiaochow

JAPANESE MAIN ARMY LANDS

Fleets Are Co-operating Outside of Port and Russian Troops Are Under Way

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The main Japanese army is now landing near Tsingtao, while Japanese and British fleets are co-operating outside the port, according to a cablegram printed by the Chicago Daily News this afternoon from its staff correspondent in Peking, China.

"Three thousand Russian troops have left Vladivostok for Tsingtao, near which port the main Japanese army is now landing."

DEMAND EXPORT CHECK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—A demand that no commodity shall directly or indirectly be exported from this country to the warring nations until they cease hostilities and submit to arbitration was made on congress today by the "Labor Council of Greater New York." The petition was presented to the senate by Vice President Marshall.

EUROPE DOES NOT OBJECT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Foreign governments have thus far offered no objection to a government ownership ship line. President Wilson takes the position that the United States can purchase vessels from Germany or elsewhere without violating neutrality.

TWO DROWN

OSKALOOSA, Ia., Aug. 25.—Two were drowned in Skunk river north of here, late last night, when a boat overturned. The dead: L. E. Patterson, 25; Miss Zetta Miller, 20.

SOLDIERS ARE COMING

And now the soldiers are coming to La Crosse with artillery, cavalry and blare of bugle. They will be through here some time on Thursday and will march in full regalia.

Mayor Sorensen received a request for the use of a suitable camping spot in Pettibone park and request for free use of the wagon bridge today, both of which were granted. The detachment of the United States army which will march through La Crosse includes the famous "D" battery of the Fifth army corps.

2,563,000 REASONS WHY EVERY MAN IN LA CROSSE SHOULD VOTE FOR TOM MORRIS--$1 PER REASON

THE SCHOOL TOM BROUGHT TO HIS HOME WITH HIM

There can be no honest dissent from the statement that it was through the capable and undivided effort of Tom Morris that La Crosse secured the state normal school, a photograph of which is displayed herewith.

Mr. Morris is a candidate for the United States senate. Laying aside purely political phases of his candidacy, let us consider to what extent he deserves the sort of home loyalty which disregards party and becomes obedient to the community's obligation in whatever measure he has been a useful citizen.

To him we owe the state normal school. That school has contributed to the general prosperity in the following ways:

Total investment in grounds, buildings and equipment	$250,000
Annual payroll of teachers and other employees	58,500
281 outside students, spending an average of $300 a year in La Crosse	84,300
300 summer school students at $50	15,000
Total annual income coming into La Crosse from outside sources and remaining in La Crosse	157,800

But this is not the only money profit La Crosse secures from the normal school. There are 160 local students enrolled. Were there no normal here, and were these La Crosse students attending school elsewhere, they would be taking $300 each, a total of $48,000 of La Crosse money, now kept at home, away to pay their passage through school in other cities. Moreover, the saving of these pupils by going to school over the cost of going away is in round figures $24,000 a year. This is an actual cash saving to the individual families who have students in school.

In like manner, fifty-one local boys and girls are taking the two-years' university course in the local normal. They can do this at a saving for each pupil of at least $250 a year from the higher cost of going to Madison. That means a saving of $12,750 a year to the individual families, and keeps in the city money that otherwise would be taken away and spent in Madison, an average of at least $500 per year per pupil, or a total of $25,500.

This analysis deals directly with pecuniary benefits, and takes no account of the advantage to the city of having as residents the great teaching staff which contribute so much to social, educational and musical circles.

When he comes to cast his vote for United States senator every business man in La Crosse who likes to recognize an obligation, will take up his pencil and figure out what Tom Morris accomplished for him when he brought here an institution which gave us an original investment of $250,000, and

Annually brings into the city from outside	$ 157,800
Annually keeps in the city money that otherwise would leave the city totalling	73,500
Thus annually placing and retaining in circulation in La Crosse a total of	231,300
Ten year grand total of	2,313,000

The amount spent and saved annually was less at the start, but has increased from year to year. That it will increase in equal proportion from year to year in the future is a conservative statement. Therefore to take the present year as an average is fair, and thus it is shown that in ten years the normal has meant to La Crosse merchants and business men a grand total of $2,563,000.

WAR BULLETINS

THE HAGUE, Aug. 25.—The toll of war to Belgium is enormous, according to statements compiled here. The estimates today are that 16,000 Belgians already have been killed and 55,000 wounded, of whom many will die.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—In the house of Lords, Earl Kitchener, secretary of war, speaking of the fact that the British lines held under the concentrated attack of the Germans at Mons said: "I wired Sir John French to congratulate the troops for their splendid work. We are all proud of them."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Wilson this afternoon signed a proclamation of neutrality toward Japan.

ANTWERP CAPTURES GERMAN DIRIGIBLE

Latest Zeppelin Is Brought Down After Attempt to Dynamite the Palace

ANTWERP, Aug. 25.—Germany sacrificed one of her latest type of Zeppelin dirigibles today in a vain attempt to destroy the royal palace with high explosives. Although the entire city was terror stricken over the appearance of the monster of the air, the quick work of the forts at Hemixem, six miles away, in practically demolishing it, driving it to earth with the capture of the entire crew of twenty-five men, including the officer in command, quickly restored confidence.

LONDON.—At Stratford-on-Avon 95 per cent of the territorialists and reservists responded to the call to arms. Only two per cent of all that answered the call in the "Shakespeare country" were rejected for unfitness.

PARIS.—The prisoners in Melun jail, who night and day are baking bread and making shoes for their countrymen, have unanimously refused to accept the money ordinarily allowed them for their work.

FORTRESS EXPECTED TO HOLD OUT WEEKS TAKEN IN TWO DAYS

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Namur has fallen. The stronghold in Belgium, relied upon by the French to hold back the German invasion for weeks, was taken in two days. The fortifications were carried by storm by an overwhelming force of German troops late yesterday and the French and British allied armies were forced to fall back to their secondary defenses. They are believed now to be occupying hastily entrenched positions near the French border. Germany is in practical control of Belgium.

ENGLAND MUST CALL EVERY MAN TO SAVE FRANCE

This Is Admitted in London Following the Fall of the City of Namur

CASUALTIES IN BATTLE HUGE

Figures Will Startle World—Declare Officials of the War Office

LONDON, Aug. 25.—England is grimly determined today. The admission that Namur, the Gibraltar of the allied defense, has been taken by the Germans has amazed the entire country. The war office withholds particulars. But the newspapers very frankly admit that a real advance on Paris is far more than a possibility.

That the English expedition stood steadfast in the face of a determined German attack is assured. Premier Asquith made this announcement in the house of commons today. He insisted that the retirement of the secondary line of defenses was an act of prudence. He insisted that the allies were still confident of their ability to hold the Germans back.

The fact that it took the Germans only three days to overwhelm the French defense at Namur and drive them out of their position is said by the military experts to speak volumes for the strength of the German attack. The Daily Chronicle in this connection, makes this appeal:

Urges Determination "England and Russia must stubbornly resolve that, come what may to France, they will never surrender to Germany. They must stick to her as they stuck to Napoleon until they pull her down. As long as we hold the sea we cannot ourselves be vitally struck."

Admission that Namur has fallen has ended all hopes in England for a speedy conclusion of the war. It is now accepted that England will be compelled to send every available man from the British Isles and the colonies, if the German invasion of France is to be checked. It is believed additional troops are already being sent forward as transports were ready yesterday.

All of the newspapers are demanding the government explain the fall of Namur. They point out that it had been regarded as far stronger than Liege, which is still claimed to be holding out. The officials at the war office, however, will not discuss it, saying it was held as long as possible and the allied armies fell back to the cover of the second defense line.

It is admitted that the British casualties to date are enormous. The total losses in both armies to date are declared to be "appalling," and officials say that when the figures are revealed they will "startle the world."

Many of the military experts suggest the French may have been overconfident. They think that, misled by the success of the early Belgian operations some of the French corps commanders were too eager and advanced their lines too fast and without covering their positions. This is believed to have been the case in Lorraine, where the French apparently rushed pell mell into a carefully baited trap.

Reports persist that Nancy has

Censorship Strict.

The censorship curtain is again interposed between the great battle now in progress along the entire frontier and the French people. It is admitted fighting is still in progress and that the allied armies are acting entirely on the defensive. At certain portions of the line the German assault is so heavy that a further retrogression would cause no surprise. This is especially so along the Luxembourg line from Montmedy through Longwy to Spincourt. Here the German army of the Moselle is throwing its entire strength against the French lines.

There is deep disappointment over the loss of Namur. It had been accepted as certain the lines there would hold indefinitely, thus enabling the allied center to throw the German assault back. But it took only two days for the German war machine to smash the French defense. The war office does not say whether all or only a portion of the Namur forts surrendered. But the military experts say that even though a few of the forts hold out they cannot hold for long.

Hold Firm in Alsace. The war office insists that the French positions in Alsace from Mulhausen through Altkirch are holding firm against the Germans who have been attacking them in force since Sunday.

Fresh German Troops Attack. Driven back to their own fortifications, the French and British armies were today strictly on the defensive. Against their lines the great tidal wave of Germans beat with tremendous force. Fresh columns of German troops have been rushed through the attack while the regiments that carried the day yesterday have been withdrawn to rest. The German assault was admittedly as tremendous today as it was on Saturday when the first great battle began.

Namur, the great fortress depended on to hold out for weeks, collapsed in three days. The German line, outspread like a giant fan, has enveloped the entire Belgian frontier. German-French frontiers. Against the gaps in the chain of fortresses thousands of Germans are being hurled. The French and English hidden in hastily constructed entrenchments, are striving with desperation to hold their lines.

Bulletins Meager. The official bulletins issued today contain no informative details. The present position is referred to as the "secondary defense," but just where the strongest pressure is being faced is not stated.

There was a council of the cabinet at the president's palace that lasted for several hours, in which the entire war situation was carefully canvassed. It was agreed, after the reports of Gen. Joffre had been considered, that the campaign was working out as well as could be expected, when the extraordinary strength of the German attacking armies was considered. An official statement said:

"The enemy is advancing in extraordinary strength. Every battle in which he participates, however, weakens that strength and it is necessary for him to bring all of his supplies up from long distances, whereas our army is operating from its field bases. Our losses are very heavy but so were the Germans'."

Paris Downcast. Because of the great uncertainty of the casualties the town people are downcast. No one is certain just who has met death. It is understood the forts at Namur were simply overwhelmed. From the moment they came under fire late on Friday there was no let up. Night and day the German bombardment continued and finally one of the chain was carried by storm. Then the Germans were able to mount their artillery inside of this fort and to reduce the others.

TO LIMIT OPERATIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Japan has officially notified the United States that she will confine her activities in the war situation to the far east.

This was the statement this afternoon of secretary Bryan, clearing up the erroneous impression given earlier today by mistake by President

Wilson, that such a pledge was not known to him.

This is believed to leave the situation open to an extension of Japan's warfare should she see fit to go further than merely capturing Kiaochow and restoring it to China. It is not believed here, however, that Japan intends to take this course.

A clever girl doesn't need to be pretty.

Pope Pius and Cardinal Who Now Holds His Power

Pope Pius X passed away quietly Thursday morning. He had been sinking for some time, but his physician had given out reports to indicate that there was no danger. Not until a press association published the statement late Wednesday afternoon that he was dead did most persons know he had been dangerously ill.

The official announcement of the death was not made until the Cardinal Camerlengo, Cardinal Della Volpe, reached Rome from Imola. The cardinal went through the ceremony of learning that the pope was dead. He tapped three times on the forehead with a silver mallet calling the pope by his baptismal name, Giuseppe Sarto, three times.

"The pope is truly dead," he announced.

The Cardinal Camerlengo, who succeeds temporarily to the power, was then invested with the office.

After receiving the ring of St. Peter, the seals of the late Pontiff were turned over to him. Cardinal Della Volpe will reside in the Vatican until the new pope is elected.

TOM JUMPS INTO PURE FOOD FIGHT

La Crosse Man Resents Sentinel's "Bolstered Buncombe" of "Convention Ticket"

MONROE, Wis., Aug. 25.—Lieut. Governor Thomas Morris, speaking in behalf of his candidacy for United States senator today, turned his attention a few minutes to the pure food fight which has engaged his interest at several of his stops. He said:

"In an effort to bolster up the record of the Madison convention ticket, the Milwaukee Sentinel published a letter written by Commissioner Emery in 1909, in appreciation of the speech of Speaker Bancroft in support of the pure food bills then pending and slated by certain of the reactionary crowd for slaughter.

Commissioner Emery was prompt in expressing his appreciation. But how about Messrs. Philipp, Cousins, Holman, Schardt and Bentley? It would be more to the point, if these gentlemen favored the pure food laws when enacted as stated by The Sentinel, and wrote such approval and appreciation to Speaker Bancroft commending his speech, for The Sentinel to publish those letters.

"In its recent exaltation of Mr. Bancroft's speech The Sentinel has evidently forgotten its editorial of May 8, 1909, relating to that speech. In that editorial The Sentinel not only had no words of sympathy or approval or appreciation of that speech, but it fairly bristled with criticism, indignation and denunciation of things said by Speaker Bancroft. The Sentinel then as now was helping Mr. Philipp fight the general scheme of those dreamers."

Black Headed Grosbeak.
 The black headed grosbeak of the west takes the place of the rosebreast in the east and, like it, is a fine songster. It feeds on cherries, apricots and other fruits and does some damage to green peas and beans, but it is so active a foe of certain horticultural pests that we can afford to overlook its faults. For each quart of fruit consumed it destroys in actual bulk more than one and a half quarts of black olive scales and one quart of flower beetles, besides a generous quantity of codling moth pupae and cankerworms.

SEEKING HARMONY

By GRACE KERRIGAN
 (Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When Emmons Cranston and Isabelle Day were married, folks said it was a good match.

The couple had courted for a year. There had not been the slightest disagreement. Both were even-tempered. Both were optimistic. The mothers and fathers were people who would in no way advise this or that, but leave the young people to manage their own affairs as seemed best. Emmons had a good salary and Isabelle was not extravagant.

"Why, they could find nothing to disagree about if they should set out to try," friends said.

Which was all very nice, but they forgot about the old woman that poisoned her own cat to have something to cry about.

The woodbine cottage was rented. That was an actual woodbine. The landlord guaranteed it, and the young husband and wife had seen woodbines slathers of times before. The presence of the woodbine caused the rent to be $2 per month higher than if it had been a string bean trying to loop itself over the door.

There was nothing mean about the landlord. He said they might paint and paper as much as they desired, at their own expense. The bride was sent away to visit some relatives for a fortnight, and during those days Emmons and a painter transformed the interior of that cottage into an esthetic bower. Emmons didn't propose to have anything around that nest of a cottage that would jar and grate.

"There isn't a house in Little Falls that can compare with it," said Mr. Cranston as he walked through it when all was finished.

The painter and paper hanger agreed with him.

"I doubt if there is in New York or Boston. Did you ever see better Harmony?"

The painter hadn't. There was the front fence yet to paint and he wanted the job.

"Nothing grates on you as you look around, eh?"

Nothing did.

"Mrs. Cranston's taste and mine are exactly alike, and she can't help but be pleased."

The painter said she couldn't help it.

"She'll be back tonight and I'll show her through in the morning."

The painter mentally arranged not to be there.

The bride returned, and she wanted to run right over to the cottage the first thing.

"I do so hope that everything will harmonize," she said with a loving smile. "You had the rugs and furniture in mind when you selected the various papers, didn't you?"

"Can you doubt it?" asked the husband. "For instance, when I selected the sitting-room paper I could shut my eyes and see before me that red and brown rug your mother gave you."

"You mean blue and brown, dear."

"Red and brown, darling, and the dining room—I got a perfect harmony for the fish pictures we are to have."

"But no one has fish pictures any more."

"Then it will do for roast beef or boiled ham. There are pictures of a fox-hunt on each strip. Oh, you can't help but like the whole thing. There was one thing I treated as a work of art. In the dining room is a recess for a sideboard. Of course the paper will show around and above. When you come to see how I have treated it you will wonder that I did not study to be an artist."

It was not with a spirit of exultation that the bride awoke next morning and proceeded to the cottage.

"Behold the Bower of Art!" announced the husband.

"Emmons Cranston," moaned the woman, after a glance into each room, and as she sat right down on the floor among the litter.

"Well, are you surprised?"

"Worse than that—I am crushed."

"Is anything wrong?"

"It's all wrong! I never can live an hour here with such paper on the walls! Everything glares. Nothing can be made to harmonize. I should have the nightmare were I to sleep in that bedroom."

"But the recess in the dining room?"

"It's a circus, Emmons."

"Um! What's to be done?"

"All the paper will have to come off and be replaced."

"Who is to boss the job?"

"I am."

"All right, dear—go ahead."

And the agreement was that he shouldn't meddle nor even come to the cottage until the work was finished. New paper was selected, the paper-hanger re-engaged, and by his advice the new paper was plastered over the old.

"It is finished at last!" cried the wife.

"Yes," sighed the paper-hanger.

"Have you ever done a more artistic job under instructions?"

"Never, ma'am."

"Can't you see the blend—the harmony, not only of every room by itself, but of the whole thing?"

"I sure can."

"Well, Mr. Cranston will be here in an hour, and don't you think he will be pleased?"

"He must be, ma'am—how can he help it?"

The wife looked out of the window and saw her husband approaching, and she threw open the door and made use of his words.

"Behold the Bower of Art."

Now then, while Mr. Cranston had been humiliated over what his wife called his failure, he had not prepared himself to find fault with her work. Indeed, he had come to the conclusion that he ought to have left it to her natural taste, in the first place. When he had walked through the rooms he finished up with a groan.

"What is the matter dear?" was asked.

"I can never live here a day!"

"But what is it?"

"The inharmonious—the incongruity—the abuse of art! You have got red where brown ought to be—blue in place of white. You meant well,

DARING AVIATOR DOES HIS LOOPS SO CLOSE FACE CAN BE WATCHED

STAY TWO DAYS ANYWAY

Don't try to see all of the 1914 state fair in one day.

You couldn't do it if you had a dozen pair of eyes.

When you decide to visit the fair, make up your mind to stay at least two days, and all of the five days, if you can.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 18.—Lincoln Beachey, who will be the big thriller at this year's state fair, will receive $1,000 a day for exhibition flights three times each day on Sept. 15, 16, 17 and 18.

If you are of the opinion that Lincoln Beachey's loop and upside down flying feats are performed at a high altitude, and that the loop comes in some rapid whirl like the old bicycle loop in the circus, you are badly mistaken. Most persons believe that they will need field glasses to get a good glimpse of Beachey when he loops in the sky.

But Beachey's looping is done at so alarmingly low an altitude that the expression of his face is plainly discernible. Nine-tenths of the crowd seem panic-stricken when the first loop is made. They cannot realize that disaster has not overtaken the in-trrepid fellow. A mighty shout goes up as he is seen to be safe after making the loop. That is nothing like I thought it was, is the comment from everyone witnessing the stunt. The astounding daring of the man, his superb courage in looping the loop so close to the ground is what strikes the crowd so effectively. What if he should be struck by a gust of wind when he is so low? Is a question often asked. That is Beachey's specialty, and the one reason why he has cheated death so often. He is able to out-general the "wind puffs."

Neither the wind nor the rain has any effect on Beachey's flying. He executes his tricks of the sky in just as clever a manner when wind is blowing sixty miles an hour, or when the rain is pelting his face, as he does in a calm. In fact, Beachey dislikes to fly in calm weather. "I have nothing to fight," says he, "and you know there is no sport in fishing for game fish unless you get a fellow on the line who will fight you back. That is the way I feel about a strong wind. I am out to show that man is not at the mercy of the elements on an aeroplane. I beat the wind. That is quite a feat and sends the crowd away thinking that Beachey is quite a fellow. Man has conquered air, just as he conquered earth and water."

SAY AUSTRIANS HAVE LEFT SERVIA

NISH, Aug. 25.—The Servian war office announces that Austria has apparently abandoned her aggressive campaign against Servia following a series of Servian victories along the Drina river. The war office today issued the following list of captured by the Servian army:

Asthma and Hay Fever a Guaranteed Relief

"I have arranged with Geo. E. Mariner, 425 Main street, that every sufferer from Asthma, Hay Fever or bronchial Asthma in La Crosse can try my treatment entirely at my risk," Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann announces. He says: "Buy a 50-cent package of my Asthmador, try it, and if it does not afford you immediate relief, or if you do not find it the best remedy you have ever used, take it back to George E. Mariner and he will return your money, cheerfully, and without any question whatever. After seeing the grateful relief it has afforded in hundreds of cases, which had been considered incurable, and which had been given up in despair, I know what it will do. I am so sure that it will do the same with others that I am not afraid to guarantee it will relieve instantaneously. The druggist handling Asthmador will return your money if you say so. You are to be the sole judge and under this positive guarantee, absolutely no risk is run in buying Asthmador."

Persons living elsewhere will be supplied under the same guarantee by their local druggist or direct by Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn.

Daddy's Bedtime

What Is the Biggest Nuisance On Earth?

He Dearly Loved to Chase the Cook.

"SAY, daddy, what's the biggest nuisance on earth, next to children?" asked Evelyn.

Daddy laughed as he replied, "Why, my dear, what put that into your little head?"

"I heard Mrs. Brown say yesterday that if there was any greater nuisance than children, when they got to acting and behaving as hers did sometimes, she'd like to know what it was."

"Well," answered daddy, "perhaps I could tell her. Children are like the little girl with the curl, I guess. 'When they are good they are very good indeed, but when they are bad they are horrid.' But I know a greater nuisance."

"It's a monkey around the house. It used to be the fashion for some families to keep them as pets, but most of the people grew sick of their bargain and would either sell the monkey or give him away, for the little beast would usually make life miserable for his owners."

"There was one once that was brought home by a man as a present to his children. His name was Danny. That family will always remember Danny."

"He was very little and peaceable and cunning when he was first brought home, just a baby, and every one petted him very much."

"He was a terror. I guess he was one of the worst acting monkeys that ever lived from all accounts. He was into all kinds of mischief all day long, and he would leave his bed in the night to do more. He was a regular little imp."

"The people would find the curtains—the nice lace curtains—all tied up in knots, and when they went for a brush to brush their hair they would find it gone, and they would then know that Danny had hidden it somewhere. He was always hiding things, and some he would lose so they would never find them again, and when they would chase him to punish him he would run on top of the sideboard or any other place that was convenient and perhaps smash some valuable article and chatter at them like a little imp."

"He dearly loved to chase the cook, who was awfully afraid of him, and she would run and jump up on a table and screech like an owl, while Danny would look up and act just as if he were laughing at her."

"By and by they used to fasten him with a chain, but somehow or other he got free from it one night and hopped on a table and broke some valuable cut glass, and they thought from the noise there were burglars in the house and were very much frightened. That was the last straw, so they gave Danny away. He is probably somewhere now making all the trouble he can for some ope."

THE RACES IN THE "MELTING POT"

In this issue of The Tribune we publish a letter from Adolph Can-drian, publisher of the Nordstern,
in which he reviews history to show reasons why this country should feel friendly to Germany, and why it should regard our "old enemy," England with suspicion. We have not verified his historical allusions
by refreshing memory upon them,
but if recollection serves, his essential contentions are correct.

We like those passages in which Publisher Candrian shows genuine reasons, historical, social and commercial, why the citizens of the United States should entertain the most kindly feeling toward the German people; they are strong, clear, indisputable. But we do not like the portion of his letter in which, in flying Germany's foes, his words are calculated to create enmity between American citizens of German descent and American citizens who trace their derivations to other European countries. As Americans, we must stand together, despite that natural loyalty to parent countries, the existence of which is one of the best evidences of our fitness for citizenship.

At the conclusion of his letter
Mr. Candrian introduces a strong but hardly temperate article on "The Germanophile Press" written by Frederick P. Schrader. Mr. Schrader is a writer of repute and we accept at face his assertion that the New York "Times," "World," "Sun"

and "Tribune shamefully distorted
the news where the source was local and they had not the excuse of the prejudiced origin. Nor do we question his statement that dislike of Germany and willful mendacity characterized the editorials of great eastern newspapers—the capitalistic press.

But we believe the author has been unfair in having drawn from these examples of mercenary malice
the conclusion that the great body of the American press was tainted with "Germanophobia." We recall reading but one or two editorials of this sort. On the other hand most western newspapers, and notably those of La Crosse, from the outset warned their readers that with cables cut Germany's side of the story could not be told, and that the only dispatches to be had, those emanating from England, France, Belgium and Russia were certain to be colored and must be read with caution.

The Tribune has pointed out editorially many of the things to which
Mr. Candrian refers as fit to cement
American friendship for Germany.
We have felt the sorrow and loss of it all. We have not judged, we have sympathized. We have left to history the telling of the true story and to posterity the judgment.

The ability with which Mr. Can-drian has presented Germany's defense inspires in us the hope that he may follow it with an article appealing to all citizens to so control their sympathies with parent countries as not to interfere with their amiable relations as citizens of America, so that Briton-born may clasp hands with German-born, French-born with Austrian-born, in true unquenchable American citizenship.

MORRIS AND THE "CITY PROSPEROUS"

In this issue we publish statistics secured for us by Mr. Howard C.
Jones, showing what the state normal which Tom Morris secured for La Crosse means to the city in a financial way. In round numbers the figures are as follows:

Original investment .....	$ 250,000
Annual income from out- side .....	157,800
Annual saving to La Crosse .....	73,500
Total annual income and saving .....	231,300
Total cash income and saving for ten years .....	2,313,000
Last item plus invest- ment .....	2,563,000

In other words, the work Tom Morris did in the state senate has meant $231,300 a year to La Crosse, and a total of $2,313,000 in ten years. Who is there in La Crosse who does not think he should consider these facts when he casts his vote for United States senator?

ANNULMENT BY NON-FEASANCE

People who feel that Mr. Philipp's success as a business man (which has raised him to the presidency of the Union Refrigerator Car Company, a concern with a monopolistic mission) should qualify him to administer the state government, and that he would be powerless to do harm to the state institutions established in the interest of the general public, will do well to consider further.

Suppose he were to appoint a reactionary as chairman of the industrial commission in place of Mr.
Crownhart.

He will, if elected.

And what good would that institution do the laboring men if an employer administered its affairs?

The next governor will have to fill vacancies in the industrial, the railroad and many other important administrative departments.

Remember the words of the employer of whom we spoke recently:
We don't care what the laws are if they will let us administer them.

Some people never deceive you,
for you always know they are lying.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

The Hotel Bachelor.

Hot roast pork and apple sass,
Roast beef and brown gravy;
It's enough to make a man
Go and join the navy.
Twenty-five cent table d'hôte,
Same old menu ever.
Oh, could I my lifelong ties
With that cafe sever.
Everything tastes just alike.
Can't tell beans from bacon.
Orphan fly dead in the soup
Unknown and forsaken.
Waiter yells in strident tones:
"Cowmeat for a gummer."
Wears the same old near-white coat
That he wore last summer.
So long in this atmosphere
Have I grimly tarried,
I'm most desperate enough
To go and get married.

*But not quite.

Law Abiding.

"What are they moving the church for?"
"Well, stranger, I'm the mayor of these diggins, and I'm for law enforcement. We've got an ordinance that says no saloon shall be nearer than 300 feet from a church. I gave 'em three days to move the church."

Good Time to Bite.

A farmer met a man at a railroad station who asked him for a chew of tobacco. The farmer pulled out a plug and said:

"Have you got a knife?"
"No," replied the man. "Have you any particular place where you want me to bite it?"

"Nope," said the farmer.
The man jumped aboard the moving train and yelled back:

"All right, then, I'll bite it in the next town."

A Delivery Worth Money.

"And how is your excellent son,
the divinity student. He graduated from the theological seminary about a year ago, I believe?"
"Yes, just a year ago. And he's doing so well! They pay him a wonderfully large salary, and next year he's to get more."

"Indeed! That's very unusual.
Perhaps it is his excellent delivery that nets him this large emolument?"

"Yes, that's it. He's one of the pitchers in the National league."

Abbreviated.

"Here we are, Maria," he exclaimed gleefully; you wanted to see those stunning bathing costumes and here we are at the beach with the bathers all around us.

"I see the bathers," she replied, severely, "but where are the costumes?"

Eye-Openers.

"In choosing his men," said the Sabbath school superintendent,
"Gideon did not select those who laid aside their arms and threw themselves down to drink; he took those who watched with one eye and drank with the other."

Laundered a Couple Times.

"I hear you have a little new sister at your home," said the manager to a little boy who came into the department store with his father.
"That's fine, isn't it? Do you like her?"

"Yes, I like her," answered Billy,
"but I'd rather had a brother, so I could 'rattle' with him, show him
how to put up his 'docks' and do other things."

"Well, Billy," said the shop man,
"if you aren't satisfied, why don't you take your little sister back and exchange her for a brother?"

"Aw, it's too late now," responded Billy resignedly. "We got her a week ago and she's been laundered
a couple of times already. No store would exchange her now."

He Was Right.

The pupils of an Alabama school were asked to construct a sentence containing the word "amphibious."
Quick as a flash the son of a local preacher gave the following:
"Most fish stories am fibious."

Sizing Him Up.

Sages assembled in the village grocery store were discoursing the veracity of John Perkins, when Uncle Bill Abbott ambled in.

"What do you think about, Uncle Bill?" they asked him. "Would you call John Perkins a liar?"

"Well," answered Uncle Billy slowly, as he thoroughly studied the ceiling, "I don't know as I'd go so far as to call him a liar exactly, but I do know this much—when feedin' time comes, in order to obtain any response from his hogs, he has to get somebody to call 'em for him."

MRS. WILSON'S BILL IS UP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Mrs.
Woodrow Wilson's "alley bill" proposing abolishment of capital slums was up on house calendar Monday, radically amended from the form it passed the senate on the day the president's wife died. The house was expected to carry out the deathbed wish of Mrs. Wilson by passing the bill, having been unable to enact it like the senate before she passed away.

Of course, as soon as his eyes
could penetrate the semi-gloom sufficiently to distinguish small objects,
he saw the proof; but even before that, the air seemed tingling with some strange personality. He stood like a statue, gazing fixedly. His alert eyes, always on guard, had assured him that the cove was deserted—there was no use to look behind him. Whoever had been there must have scaled the mountain, and had either crossed to the plain on the north, or was hiding behind the rocks. What held his eyes to the stove was a heap of tobacco, and a clay pipe beside it. Among the stores removed from the wagon, tobacco
had been found in generous quantity, but during the month now elapsed, had been sadly reduced.
Willock, however, was not pleased to find the new supply; on the contrary his emotions were confused and alarmed. Had the tobacco been ten times as much, it could not have soled him for the knowledge that the dugout had been visited.

After a few minutes of immobility
he entered, placed the meat on a box, and departed softly, closing the door behind him. Casting apprehensive glances along the mountainside, he stole toward it, and made his way up the staggering line of trees and underbrush, till he stood on the summit. He approached each ridge with extreme caution, as if about to storm the barricade of an enemy; thus he traveled over the range without coming on the traces of his mysterious visitor. Not pausing at the crevice, he went on to the outer northern ridge of the range, and lying flat among some high rocks looked down.

He counted seventeen men near the spot from which he had removed the wagon. Fifteen were on horseback and two riderless horses explained the presence of the two on foot. All of them had drawn up in a circle about the heap of stones that covered the woman's burial place. Of the seventeen, sixteen were Indians, painted and adorned for the war-path. The remaining man, he who stood at the heap of stones beside the chief, was a white man, and at the first glance, Wil-lock recognized him; he was the dead woman's husband, Henry Gledware.

Brick's mind was preplexed with vain questionings. Was it Gledware who had visited his dugout, or the Indians? Did the pipe and tobacco indicate a peace offering? What was the relationship between Gledware and these Indians? Was he their prisoner, and were they about to burn him upon the heap of stones?
He did not seem alarmed. Had he made friends with the chief by promising to conduct him to the deserted wagon? If so, what would they think in regard to the wagon's disappearance? Had the dugout persuaded them that there was no other retreat in the mountains?

While Brick waited in agitated suspense, several Indians leaped to the ground at the signal from the chief and advanced toward the white man. The chief turned his back upon the company, and started toward the mountain, his face turned toward Brick's place of observation.
He began climbing upward, the red feather in his hair gleaming against the green of the cedars. Brick had but to remain where he was, to reach forth his hand presently and seize the warrior—but in that case, those upon the plain would come swarming up the ascent for vengeance.

Brick darted forth from his post, swept like a dipping swallow across the ravine, and snatching up the rope-ladder from its nook under the boulder, scurried down into the granite chamber. Having removed the ladder, he crept to the extremity of the excavation and with his back against the wall and his gun held in readiness, awaited the coming of the chief. After the lapse of many minutes he grew reassured; the Indian thinking the dugout his only home, had passed the crevice without the slightest suspicion.

However, lest, in thrusting forth forth his head, he call attention to his home in the rock, he kept in retreat the rest of the day, nor did he venture forth that night. After all the housewarming did not take place.

CHAPTER VII
Red Feather

One bright warm afternoon, in October two years later, Brick Wil-lock sat smoking his pipe before the open door of his dugout, taking advantage of the mountain-shadow that had just reached that spot. In repose, he always sat, when in the cove, with his face toward the natural roadway leading over the flat hill-land into the farther reach of the horseshoe. It was thus hoped to prevent surprise from inimical horsemen, and it was thus that, on this particular afternoon, he detected a shadow creeping over the reddish-brown stone passageway before its producing cause rode suddenly against the background of the blue sky.

At first glimpse of that shadow of a feathered head, Willock flung himself down the dirt steps leading to the open door; now lying flat, he directed the barrel of his gun over the edge of the level ground, covering an approaching horseman.
As only one Indian came into view, and as this Indian was armed in a manner as astounding as it was irresistible, Willock rose to his height of six foot three, lowered his weapon, and advanced to meet him.

When he was near, the Indian—
the same chief from whom Willock had fled on the day of his intended housewarming—this Indian sprang lightly to the ground, and lifted from the horse that defense which he had borne in front of him on penetrating the cove; it was the child for whose sake Willock had separated himself from his kind.

At first, Willock thought he was dreaming one of those dreams that had soled his half-waking hours, for he had often imagined how it would be if that child were in the mountains to bear him company.
But however doubtful he might be regarding her, he took no chances about the Indian, but kept his alert gaze fixed on him to forestall any design of treachery.

The Indian made a sign to the little girl to remain with the horse;

then he glided forward, holding somewhat ostentatiously, a filled pipe in his extended hand. He had evidently come to knit his soul to that of his white brother while the smoke from their pipes mingled on the quiet air, forming a frail and uncertain monument to the spirit of peace.

"Was it you that left a pipe and tobacco on my stove two years ago?"
Willock asked abruptly.

"Yes, You got it? We will smoke." He seated himself gravely on the ground.

Willock went into the cabin, and brought out the clay pipe. They smoked. Willock cast covert glances toward the girl. She stood slim and straight, her face rigid, her eyes fixed on the horse whose halter she held. Her limbs were bare and a blanket that descended to her knees seemed her only garment. The face of the sleeping child of five was the same, however, as this seven-year-old maid, except that it had grown more beautiful; the wealth of glowing brown hair made amends for all poverty of attire.

Willock was wonderfully moved;
so much that his manner was harsh,
his voice gruff in the extremity.
"What are you doing with that girl?"
he demanded.

"You take her?" inquired the chief passively.

"Yes—I take her."
"Good!" The Indian smoked
serenely.

"Where'd you find her?"
"Not been lost. Her safe all time.
Sometime in one village—here, then there, two, three—move her about.
Safe all time. I never forget. There she is. You take her?"

"I said so, didn't I? Where's her daddy?"

The Indian said nothing, only smoked, his eyes fixed on space.
Willock raised his voice. "Must
I ask her where he is?"

"Her not know. Her not seen him one, two year. She say him dead."

"Oh, he's dead, is he?"
"Him sleep, too." He looked at the sun. "Long trail before me.
Then I leave her. I go, now."

This photograph was taken on the field of action near Liege. It shows a company of Belgians after a battle with German troops.

CHAMPS WALLOPED IN FIRST GAME

By a score lopsided enough to sink a liner, the Champs last night lost the first game of the city midget indoor baseball championship series to the Eagles, champions of the South side. The final score stood 27 to 8 in favor of the South side. The slump of the North side champions came as a surprise to their followers, who had predicted victory. Bollrud threw a good game for the Copeland park boys, but his team was unable to hit to any advantage behind him.

Hefti for the Eagles kept the bingles well scattered, and was never in danger after the first five innings. His team made five runs in the sixth frame and put him on the way to an easy win. After the fifth, the Champs scored but once, that in the ninth. The same teams will meet in the second clash of the series tomorrow afternoon at the Hood street playgrounds. The score:

Eagles ..... 042125292—27
Champs ..... 003220001—8
Batteries: Hefti and Temp; Bollrud and Gibson.

BRAKEMAN SAVED FROM NEAR DEATH BY TIMELY BEAM

Northwestern Trainman has Close Call at Burdette
While Switching
Cars

A. H. Bethke, brakeman, Northwestern road, well known here, miraculously escaped death Friday afternoon when switching at Burdette, Minn., formerly Mankato Junction. According to local railroad men, he signaled the engineer to back up and at the same time started to cross the tracks in front of the oncoming train. When in the middle of the track he slipped, falling under the cars.

Conductor Archie Leighton, who was near the scene of the accident, saw Bethke's lantern drop and signalled the engineer to stop. Three cars passed over Bethke. The brakeman of one caught in his clothing and dragged him along the roadbed for fifteen feet.

He emerged with a broken nose, a badly gashed thigh and several bruises on his body and limbs, and was taken to Waseca for treatment. He will recover.

STRANGER KILLED IN PORTAGE YARDS

An unrecognized man was almost instantly killed at 3 o'clock Sunday morning in the switch yards of the Milwaukee road at Portage.

He had been hit by a string of freight cars in front of the yardmaster's office, the train severing his right leg below the hip, his left leg at the ankle and his right arm above the elbow. Bruises on his head indicate that he died instantly.

The only clue for identification found on the person of the unfortunate man is a tailor's label, "J. A. Adler, Dodgeville, Wis." Inquiries to that place have brought no returns.

The body was buried Monday morning in the potter's field at Portage.

GEN VON DER MARWITZ

General von Marwitz has entered Brussels at the head of the German troops on the exact day the Kaiser had planned to enter Paris. The resistance of the Belgians have upset the German plans of invasion and the scheme of striking a mortal blow at France while Russia was still in process of mobilization has failed. The allies have purposely let the Germans take Brussels which is unfortified and undefendable. General von Marwitz now faces the enormous forces of the British and the French and is menaced on his flank by the Belgians who have retreated into Antwerp. A great battle will soon be fought and its outcome is anxiously watched by the entire world.

MARIA SARTO

The favorite sister of the late Pope Pius X. There were eight children in the Sarto family, two boys and six girls. Three of them married humble artisans of Rome and the three others followed Giuseppe from one city to another in his steady elevation in the church hierarchy until he was elected Pope in 1903. They had to cease caring for him, then and the best they could do was to rent a small flat in the vicinity of the Vatican and visit their august brother as often as they could. One sister died a year ago, Maria and Anna survive. In his last will Pope Pius asks that a pension of $30 a month be served to his sisters until their death. He was born poor and he died a poor man.

SPOTLIGHTS

EXPENSIVE TO MIRROR NATURE

Rex Beach's great American romance, "The Spoilers," indicates that fiction may have as high or higher aim than fact, for, in addition to telling a gripping and absorbing story, he has reflected certain phases of civilization's advance that will never come again. Undoubtedly this western world has experienced the last of the great gold rushes.

In providing the big "properties" for this stage that runs hundreds of miles up and down the Pacific coast from Washington to Alaska, it was necessary to charter vessels for voyages. The steamships "Ohio" and "Santa Maria" were engaged for this service, and half a hundred vessels were leased to give life to the foreground or background of the water scenes. Special railway trains were secured. The Spoilers will be shown at the La Crosse Theater tonight and tomorrow and Thursday matinee and night.

PARCEL POST RUNS MARKET RATE HERE

Postmaster O. R. Skaar Tells Convention that New Service Now Regulates Living Cost

"Rapid adoption of postal facilities as a means of obtaining farm produce for consumption in a city the size of La Crosse is not to be expected," said Postmaster Olaf R. Skaar today in a report to the Postmaster General.

La Crosse was taken as a sample of the cities of smaller size, and a report on the farm-to-city service was read by Postmaster Skaar at the recent postmaster's convention at St. Paul. Mr. Skaar says:

"Our parcel post will have a tendency to keep local prices right," said Mr. Skaar. "When the local stores charge too much for articles the consumer will send away for the same. When the storekeeper learns what is going on, he will put his prices right and keep them there."

"On the outskirts of La Crosse are many truck gardeners. Each day these men peddle their wares and there is little call for sending away much of the produce. There is no saving to the consumer as the local prices are about the same as they would be through parcel post, figuring all costs."

"Chickens, ducks, turkeys and fresh cuts of meat may be transported by parcel post when cold weather comes."

New Teaching Staff Announced at 'High' Begins On Tuesday

Tuesday morning, September, the first, at half past eight the high school will again open its doors.

The enrollment this year is expected to fall off slightly as the tuition for non-resident students has been raised from twenty-four to forty dollars per annum. This is expected to cause a few to drop out. However, it should be remembered by students living in townships where no high school is maintained, that the township is obliged to pay their tuition while attending High School. This does not apply to Minnesota.

A large freshman class is expected as the number of pupils leaving the pupils leaving the public schools was large. A number of new teachers have been engaged for the coming year to replace others who have resigned. They include Miss Hester Jacobs who replaces Miss Scofield, Miss Jennie Constance, in place of Miss Dunn, Miss Margaret Eberle, in place of Miss Johnson; Miss Wood, Mr. Homer Leach, replacing Mr. Carmichael; Mr. J. V. Ernst, in place of Mr. Curtiss; Miss Caroline Ruddock, in place of Miss Halleck; Miss Helen Hudson, in place of Miss Griffin; and Mr. Charles Mayo, in place of Mr. Fuller. The other teachers are Miss Hargrave, Mr. Stuckert, Miss Hektoen, Miss Wilke, Miss Williams, Miss Congdon, Miss Hackett, Miss Desmond, Miss Mashuk, Miss Cotton, Miss Swift, Miss Heideman, Miss Hayes, Miss Josten, Mr. Kline, Mr. Puckett, Miss Elliot, Mr. Gouldin, Mr. Hassett, Mrs. Irish, Mrs. Cavanaugh, Mr. Butler, Miss Guerton, Miss Kempter, Miss Gesell, Mr. Peart, Mr. Thomas, Mr. Brower, Mr. Horne, Miss Wylie and Miss McLane.

Girls to Learn to Swim
During the vacation all the hall floors have been repainted and the walls of the entire building re-tinted so that the present aspect is that of an entire new building. All the floors have been oiled and everything is in readiness for the "grind."

Mr. F. P. Hixon's new gift of a girl's locker room for the High School is well under way toward completion. The locker-room is being built over the engine room and will be connected both to the main building and to the swimming pool.

The object of the new addition is to enable the girls to make use of the swimming pool and learn to swim, which has hitherto been prevented due to the lack of a suitable dressing room in connection with the tank.

Miss Florence Hargrave, a teacher in the English department of the La Crosse High School, is stranded in London awaiting passage home to La Crosse. Miss Hargrave was spending her vacation touring the continent at the time the war broke out but succeeded in reaching London the day before war was officially declared.

When she arrived in London, she was inconvenienced by the money famine, as her travelling checks could not be redeemed. According to a letter received by Principal McCormick of the High School, a short time ago, she was to have sailed from Glasgow August 14, but due to the irregularity of train service she feared missing the boat.

Mr. J. H. Kircher, formerly of Oshkosh, will take the place of Mr. John Hardy as principal of the Washington school. Mr. Kircher has made his home at 1122 State street.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

ENGLAND—Fall of Namur officially admitted, but British war bureau insists that falling back of allied army to the French fortified lines was dictated by prudence, and that ultimate victory is certain.

FRANCE—Fighting continues today all along the French line of secondary defenses. Losses to date on both sides described as "appalling." Following cabinet council war minister issued statements saying the situation was "reassuring" and that the secondary defense lines were intact.

AUSTRIA—Reports via Copenhagen repeated that Emperor Francis Joseph has completely collapsed under his death is believed to be certain.

REGISTER TODAY! ALL WILL VOTE IN COMING ELECTION

Heavy Registration Marks

dreds Inscribe
Names

Voting booths in the various wards of La Crosse will close at 8 o'clock tonight. All men who have not voted heretofore and all those who have changed their addresses since the last election must register before the polls close or be disfranchised.

Election officials today predicted a registration of more than 5,000, a jump of 500 over the 1913 majority vote in La Crosse, when 4,500 men were at the polls. Officials today are confident that the primary election on September 1 will total from 500 to 800 more voters.

With the first cool day of the summer, citizens went out early. Several hundred registered their names before going to their employment. A steady stream kept up all day.

La Crosse county's vote in the last presidential election was 7,832. Officials at the court house this morning said they anticipate the vote next month to exceed this by two thousand.

Special attention is called to the young men just turned legal age, who have never cast a vote. They should register their names today.

To register today will make unnecessary the production of affidavits, signed by free holders, on election day. Don't fail to register.

"Whys" of European War Moves Explained By Military Expert

(By J. W. T. Mason.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—11 a. m.—France must fight for her freedom on French soil. This is the primary meaning of the operations described in today's official reports. The exuberant feeling during the first fortnight of hostilities that Belgium and Germany would supply the great battlefields of the campaign has been shattered by the failure of the allies' plans to take the offensive.

After the German repulse at Liege the collapse of the German military methods was predicted; now that the allies have taught the difficulties of offensive operations against the Kaiser's war machine, suggestions that the French defense had gone to pieces are on everybody's lips. Both judgments are on a par.

The first phase of the campaign, which centered about the able handling of the Liege forts, went against Germany; the second phase, whereby the allies hoped to engage in offensive strategy, has resulted in Germany's favor. This is all the legitimate meaning that can be extracted from the details that have passed the censor.

The retirement of the allies to their "covering positions" probably is a graceful French way of admitting Germany now is master of all Belgium and the Anglo-French forces are recovering their breath, protected by the permanent frontier defenses.

There is no indication in official or unofficial reports that the Germans were able to follow up the collapse of the French offensive. While the allies have been compelled to retreat, a fact almost as important seems to be that the Germans have been so seriously handled as to make an immediate continuation of their strategy impossible.

There are two primary reasons why the offensive movement of the allies in southern Belgium failed: The nature of the ground and the fall of Namur. The allies used three armies for their operations. Two advanced on the Ardennes, one from the northwest and the other from the south, while the third army moved in the angle of the Meuse and Sambre rivers, extending southwest from Namur.

The Ardennes is a thickly wooded and hilly district, crossed by many streams. The advantage to the defenders is enormous and this fact is sufficient in itself to account for the German success against the two French armies.

The fall of Namur undoubtedly drove the third allied force out of the Meuse-Sambre angle, thus completing the German victory. The mystery of Namur's fall is removed if the Germans used against it a mass assault on a scale magnified above the frontal attacks at Liege. Namur's defenses are much more compact than are Liege's and lend themselves better to assault by mass formation.

The triple failure in Belgium, Lorraine and Alsace of the French offensive does not speak highly for the strategy evolved in Paris. It would seem that sentimental rather than military reasons have governed these initial plans. German military ability is entitled to more respect than its first exhibition at Liege seems to have produced in the French capital.

THEY ARE STILL IN BELGIUM

Claim to Be Established Firmly at Point West of Scene of Big Defeat

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. — The French army still holds Altkirch and Mulhausen; the allies following a defeat by the Germans have firmly established themselves at a point west of the place where the great battle was fought, and France and England are not in the least disheartened by the reverses. It was officially stated at the French embassy today. Official dispatches from Paris to the embassy brought this information.

The allies originally assumed an offensive position, it was stated, and this failed. A line of retreat was found necessary, and entrenchments to the west of their original position were thrown up. In the dispatches to the embassy the names of all generals and cities are left out.

The defeat of the allies was due to the superior number of the German opposition, the dispatches stated.

The second division of the French army suffered rather severely, the cable stated, but the bulk of the division was reported in good condition and not in the least discouraged. German losses are reported to have been very heavy.

France believes Germany had massed practically its whole army to eventually strike France. It was said, however, that the allies have not yet been forced out of Belgium and that there will be considerable fighting in Belgian territory before German troops crossed the Belgian-France frontier.

La Crosse has increased approximately 1,400 in population since the 1913 La Crosse directory was issued, according to the officials of the Wright directory company of Milwaukee. Another week will see the work of compilation finished.

Following their complete listing of the residents of La Crosse, during which time the directory men visited every home, store and office in the city they report a marked increase in population.

An amazing fact is shown in their report that there is not a vacant house in North La Crosse, and on the other hand, a number of residences are building in that part of the city.

La Crosse is growing rapidly in population. There are from 200 to 300 new houses in the city, with a few vacant. The estimates offered are said to be conservative.

Johnson said La Crosse is considered by many outsiders, one of the best locations in the northwest. He spent two days in looking over spots on the river near La Crosse, although he was reticent as to what plans he had. He said there was a possibility of a large summer camp being located here.

Advices from the front today indicate that the German mass movement is moving straight south and southwest with the fighting continuing and allies entrenched in the defensive. The main strength of the army of the Moselle is operating in the neighborhood of Longwy. The Germans in Muerthe-et-Moselle are admittedly in great strength and well supplied with artillery.

PARISHONERS ARE SURPRISED

Springfield Calls Him to Lead Work in New Magnificent Church

Rev. W. Adelbert Billings, pastor of the First Baptist church of La Crosse for thirteen years, tendered his resignation at the conclusion of the Sunday morning service.

Mr. Billings has accepted a call from the First Baptist church of Springfield, Ohio, and will leave his charge here September 14.

But a few officers of the church knew Mr. Billings intended to resign. The news came as a startling surprise to the congregation. While the church is reluctant to let him go, they offered their congratulations for his obtaining a larger church.

Church an Important One
The call came to Mr. Billings from his chosen field. Springfield is larger than La Crosse, and his work there naturally will be more broad. The church to which he goes is one of the largest in Springfield and the structure is a magnificent one. The congregation numbers 600 souls.

In speaking of his departure from the La Crosse church, Mr. Billings said:

"I want to take this opportunity of expressing to you my deepest appreciation of your confidence, your love and your loyalty during these years. The little boxes of ointment which you have given and again broken in my behalf have not been wasted nor broken in vain and my prayer is that God may lead you and keep your hearts always."

VALENTINE NIEDBALSKI DEAD

Valentine Niedbalski, 1008 Winnebago street died last night of carcinoma of the liver. He was 44 years old. Mr. Niedbalski was born in Poland and came to La Crosse with his parents at the age of 4 years. Surviving him are two sons and one daughter. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 8:30 from the house and at 9 o'clock from Holy Cross church. Rev. Fr. L. J. Kufel will officiate.

DON'T SQUEEZE BLACK-HEADS—DISSOLVE THEM

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads makes the pores large and cause irritation—then, too, after they have become hard you cannot get all of them out. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of powdered norexin—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition—anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should try this simple method.

CROP REPORT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Reduced foreign crop yields, due to "the widespread abandonment of the fields by the male population of military age," and a less favorable condition of the crops in this country were reported today in the monthly bulletin of the department of agriculture for the session up to August 1.

The general tone of foreign crop reports during the past month has indicated private estimates of successive yields to be optimistic, the report declares. This is due to weather conditions, as well as the war. The department does not venture an estimate of what the result of the war on European crop yields will be.

In the United States, the August 1 report declared that the month of July was very unfavorable for crop growth. The composite condition of all crops August 1 was two per cent below the ten year average, whereas, on July 1, prospects were 1.4 above the ten year average. Prospects, however, are still five per cent better than the out-turn of last year's crops.

Improvement occurred during July in nearly all Atlantic coast states, the northern states of Michigan and Wisconsin and the mountain states, except Montana and Wyoming.

VON BERNSTORFF SURE OF VICTORY

German Ambassador Denies Tales Told in America of German De-feats

SAYS JAPS WILL TAKE KAIO CHAU

Says Their Superior Numbers Will Overwhelm the German De-fense

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—"From the emperor to the common laborer, the nation is ready to defend itself against this unwarranted attack and I have perfect confidence of victory," was the statement here today of Count Johann Von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States. The ambassador arrived from Rotterdam today on the liner Noorddam. He plainly indicated the feeling as a result of Japan's entrance into the war is bitter.

"The calling in of the yellow men shows that the allies are not very confident of the outcome," the ambassador declared.

Von Bernstorff denounced the false stories that have been circulated in the United States, as to the wounding of the German crown prince. He said Gen. Von Emmich, commanding the German troops before Liege, has not committed suicide, but is still alive though suffering from a wound in the leg.

The crown prince was never at Liege, the ambassador declared, but is in command of the army fortress at Metz.

"The last German victory I heard of before leaving," said Von Bernstorff, "was won at Metz by the forces under the crown prince."

As to the part Japan might play in the war, the ambassador declared the yellow men would undoubtedly take Kaio Chau, as they would far outnumber the German defenders.

"By the end of the war," he said, "Japan will have the supremacy of the Pacific."

Count Von Bernstorff told an entirely different story of forces attacking Liege that those reported in News Dispatches from Belgium.

"When the real story of the attack upon Liege is told," he said, "Americans will have a far different opinion of German military methods. The troops under Gen. Von Emmich attacking the forts numbered only between 5,000 and 6,000 men. What was expected to require weeks was accomplished in days. The taking of Liege is one of the greatest military feats of modern times."

The ambassador said his wife was now with the Red Cross at Munich. His son is with the emperor's guard.

"But for the service for my country in Washington, I would be on the battle line myself," Von Bernstorff said.

PUBLIC DEBATE

Editor "Tribune."

Perhaps it has come to your notice that the German-American people as a whole are at the time much disturbed and wrought up over the world's war now raging in Europe, and in which their beloved mother country is the one point of attack from so many sides. The fact that Germany declared war first does not refute this conclusion, for Germany simply "pulled the gun first" before it was "covered" by its enemies' weapons. Not only the German-American people but the whole German race all over the world, who are as one with them, are pained and distressed at the hostility displayed in the Anglo-American press, with rare exceptions, towards Germany and its people. This hostility is a mystery to them, and they know and feel that they have not deserved it.

Have the American people become wholly unconscious of the lessons of history? A rudimentary glance at the past shows that Great Britain has at all critical periods been our arch enemy, while Germany has been our true and steadfast friend even long before the war of the American colonies against their English tyrants, in which German pioneers and German generals fought in the American ranks. At no time since has Germany been anything but our true-blue friend, and of our population of today nearly if not fully one-third consists of Germans and their descendants. What this German element has done for our country is a matter of history, but it has never been justly recorded by our historians. As to the patriotism of the German-Americans, in war and in peace, it has never been questioned, and that this world's conflict their love and their sympathy belong to their mother country and mother race, certainly constitutes them as still better American citizens.

How about Great Britain's friendship for us at the second critical period in our history? Let us see.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, England solemnly proclaimed her neutrality, while secretly it was a confederate of the Confederacy, and supported the southern cause by every means in its power.

Great Britain's aim was to destroy American commerce at sea. It built the Alabama, Florida and other privateers, and fully equipped them.

Recruiting stations for the Confederacy were opened all over Great Britain. Immense numbers of the best of the Southern Confederacy were subscribed for and used in buying cotton. Smuggling in arms, ammunition and all kinds of contraband of war supplied the southern states with the necessary war equipment and enabled it to continue the struggle.

Numerous British consuls in America were discovered acting as spies for the Confederacy and ordered out of the country.

The British press was openly against the Union. The hope was expressed that "the great snake may be cut in two by the war" and rendered powerless.

The prolongation of the war for four years and its frightful tax of human lives was chiefly due to British intrigues. England officially recognized the Confederacy as a belligerent power, which proved of incalculable value to its cause.

Has all this been forgotten by the American people? Of late years England has fawned upon our progress and our prosperity, and called us "their American friends and brothers"—worth so and so much to them in pounds sterling, and that even with never a balance in our favor. But that isn't all. England, the only one of all civilized powers in the world's history, has entered upon an unholy alliance with Japan, and established itself as the very champion and chaperon of the "Yellow Peril."

And now the Mongolian hordes begin to claim their pound of flesh. Japan, without a shadow of international right, seizes Germany's honestly acquired territory in China, and our good professor in the presidential chair has not even backbone enough to enter a mild protest. He says he believes in the utter sincerity of Japan's promises. He really knows better than to trust the word of a Mongolian, but with England on one side and Japan on the other, he is fearful of complications. But they cannot be avoided. Japan covets all the other possessions of Germany in the

Every Kind In Stock.

"Will you direct me to your range department?" asked the lady in the big department store.

"Certainly, madam," replied the polite floorwalker; "rifle, kitchen or mountain?"—Yonkers Statesman.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 60 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Mr. Candrian attached to his letter an attack upon the American press in which he charges bias, falsification and gross ignorance, supporting his contentions by using the names of great eastern dailies whose anti-German prejudice has been notable. The author of this attack, Frederick F. Schrader, a publicist of note, adds considerable interesting information tending to prove that Germany was not the aggressor, and recites the history of the German people as peaceful, progressive and leaders in the arts, science and industry. It is rather too long to print. In the editorial column of The Tribune will be found comment upon Mr. Candrian's letter.

Strong Talker.

"Mr. Smith, won't you please talk to me?"

"Why, certainly, my little girl. But what do you want me to say?"

"Won't you please talk like you did when you were talking to yourself in the library when the dog jumped at you? Mine's so straight, and mamma said the way you talked made her hair curl."—Baltimore American.

To Peel Off Freckled, Tanned or Muddy Skin

To remove tan, mudiness, freckles, blotches or any complexion difficulty, the best thing to do is to remove the skin itself. This is easily, painlessly and inexpensively done by the application of ordinary mercurized wax, procurable at any drug-store. The wax peels off the defective outer skin, a little each day, gradually bringing the outer or second layer of skin to the surface. The pores are unclogged and the face breathes in the life-giving oxygen. The new skin is beautifully soft, clear and white, bearing the healthy glow of youth.

Just apply the wax as you would cold cream, only not rubbing it in. In the morning wash it off with warm water. It's the most effective treatment known for a soiled, discolored or aged complexion.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The Cubs took the opener of an important series with Boston yesterday, 9 to 5. With the score tied in the eighth inning, Saier started a rally with a single and moved to second on Zimmerman's out. Singles by Schulte, Sweeney and Corriden, followed by Archer's clean up triple, put four runs over and won the game. Tyler lasted but two innings. Rudolph finishing the game. Score:

Boston	11	003	0000
Chicago	9	5	1

Batteries: Tyler, Rudolph and Gowdy; Lavender, Vaughn, Cheney, Bresnahan and Archer.
Philadelphia 3; Pittsburgh 2
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—The Phillies defeated the Pirates yesterday, 3 to 2. McQuillen allowed only one hit up to the seventh, when he weakened and the Quakers scored a run on three singles and won in the eighth when Lobert tripled with two on. Score:

Pittsburgh	2	9	0

Batteries: Marshall, Mayer and Dooin; McQuillen and Gibson.

Cincinnati	4	4	0

Batteries: Reulbach and McCarty; Benton and Gonzales.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Detroit showed up the Senators in yesterday's double-header, taking the first game 3 to 1 and the second 11 to 0. Covelski was more effective than Ayers—that explains the result of the first contest. In the night cap Dauess allowed just four hits and was in danger of being scored on only in one inning. Score:

Detroit	11	12	0
Washington	3	1	5

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—The Red Sox hammered a couple of Cleveland pitchers in the early innings yesterday and piled up more than enough to keep the game on the right side of the ledger. Score:

Cleveland	0	10	3
Boston	7	13	0

Batteries: Hagerman, Dillingier, Coume, Blanding and O'Neill; Leonard, Bedient, Carrigan and Thomas.
Philadelphia 7-6; St. Louis 1-3
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—The Athletics added two more scalps to their large collection when they won two games from St. Louis here yesterday afternoon, the first by a score of 7 to 1 and the second 6 to 3. Score:

Chicago 2, New York 1
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The White Sox trimmed the Yankees in a close game 2 to 1 here yesterday, principally because of the effectiveness of "Death Valley" Jim Scott, who twirled for the visitors. Score:

Chicago	2	7	0
New York	1	6	0

Batteries: Scott and Schaik; Fisher, Cole and Nummacker.
FEDERAL LEAGUE
INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 25.—The Hoosiers won twice from Brooklyn yesterday, 7 to 6 and 5 to 1. The opening game went thirteen innings. Indianapolis won the second game which was called at the seventh on account of darkness by hitting the ball more opportunely than their opponents, both teams making the same number of safeties. Score:

KONEY INTERESTED IN OUTLAW LEAGUE

Big First-Sacker of the Pirates Chased by Jinx and Is Anxious to Shape Pittsburgh

That a jinx is connected with the first baseman's job in Pittsburgh is realized by Ed Koney, the big Bohemian who formerly cavorted with the Cardinals, and now wants to get away from Smoketown. Ed makes no secret of the fact that he is dissatisfied with his lot in Pittsburgh and is positively serving his last season with the Pirates.

This information is included in several letters written by Koney to officials of the St. Louis Reds, to which he has been seeking the job as manager of the Terriers. Ed is now grieving because he declined the $30,000 offer made to him last winter to manage the St. Louis outlaws for three seasons.

It sounds strange, but is true nevertheless that for more than a half score of years the Pittsburgh club has been unable to show a successful first baseman. Since Kitty Bransfield played the bag, Fred Clark has trotted out a flock of initial sack guardians only to have each and every one fail.

PELKY RETIRES FROM RING

Arthur Pelky has announced his retirement from the ring. He never has been able to get back his nerve since his fight with Luther McCarty. It was Pelky's blow in the second round of that fight that sent McCarty down to his death. The shock of McCarty's death unsettled Pelky's nerves and he never since has fought even a fair fight. There always was a sort of timidity about his actions. He was afraid to hit.

The Greek Church.

LEACH CROSS TO FIGHT TILLMAN

Leach Cross, boxer and dentist, together with his brother-manager, Sam Wallace, his wife and child, passed through Chicago Sunday on their way back to New York after trimming Joe Rivers over the twenty-round route at Vernon. Leach stopped long enough to get in touch with Hudson, Wis., promoters over the telephone. A match with John Tillman was offered him and he gave his promise to appear at the northern club some time in September.

NORTHERN RACE TIGHT
DULUTH GAINS ON WINNIPEG FOR LEADERSHIP OF LEAGUE

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 25.—Duluth has gained steadily on the Winnipeg leaders in the Northern league and the race has reached the stage where a defeat or a victory may determine the winner of the pennant.

Betting around the circuit permits no choice, although only a few weeks ago Winnipeg looked so much like a sure bet that long odds were being offered.

Grand Forks, Virginia and Winona have been staging a pretty fight for places in the first division. Winona in the last ten days has been playing brilliant baseball and may come under the wire in the third position.

Fargo is supporting a group of disappointed fans. Their greatest hope was that they might finish above their rival North Dakota city, Grand Forks. At present the Forks team is playing far better than Fargo.

WISCONSIN STATE FAIR,

BOSTON FANS ARE BECOMING SLANGY IN THEIR JOY.

Browning and Ruskin have been temporarily forgotten in the culture city of Boston, while Stallings, Maranville and Evers are the recipients of loud applause from the excited populace. This is accounted for by the fact that the Braves are now sure-enough pennant contenders.

Chicago Grain Review. CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Wheat broke all previous high records for the year this afternoon when the second bull movement of the day carried September to 103 1-4; December to 107 3-8 and May to 113 3-4. At the close prices were only a shade under these high figures.

Corn climbed in the afternoon until September futures reached 80 cents. Oats, too, participated in the advance, May oats going to 50 7-8c.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Wheat started a shade earlier today but the prices whirled upward more than two cents on a sharp advance of Minneapolis September at $1.02 at noon. December at $1.05 3-8, and May at $1.12 1-4, a new high record.

Corn was easier at the start, but private advices from Kansas, telling of crop damage, inspired an advance. At noon the gains ranged from 5-8c for September to 1 3-8c for the deferred months.

Oats were firm and a shade higher at the start and influenced by the strength in the other grains advanced 1-2 to 7-8c.

Pork was very dull, with prices 70c lower. The other provision futures started easier but firmed toward noon.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then
the Back Hurts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Agent, Chas. A. Benschlag, Druggist, 507 Main St.

MORE AMERICANS BACK IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Four hundred more Americans who were stranded in the European war zone again set foot on American soil Monday when the Lloyd Sabaudio liner, Principe di Udine put in at her pier. Included among the passengers were Joseph G. (Uncle Joe) Cannon, former speaker of the house, and his daughter; President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, and his family, and Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt.

Stories of flights from Germany and arrests in France were told. William J. Davis of Indianapolis, said he was arrested in Paris when gendarmes believed he was eavesdropping on wireless messages sent from Eiffel tower. Davis is deaf and upon his chest carried an audiphone which resembles a telephone receiver.

The French liner Chicago arrived here last night from Havre with 339 passengers.

"You can't convince me," said the little man with the ragged trousers, "that you can bring up children right by talkin' to 'em and lettin' it go at that. You've got to use the rod, or you'll spoil the child. I used to git about three lickin's a day on the average."

"It doesn't seem to have done much for you," replied the lady with the protruding jaw.

"It done a lot for me. If they'd let me go my own way I might almost of been a failure in life."—Judge.

CAPITALISTS MUST DROP PROPOSITION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Wilson does not intend to drop his government ship purchase plan.

He did not deny, however, that the government would drop its plan or modify it considerably if private capital backed down from its position that the government guarantee the bonds issued by capitalists.

He made it plain that he saw no alternative for the government under its present position. The government fleet, he pointed out, is intended largely to develop new trade. The bill, he believed, can be passed within two or three weeks and it will be so framed as not to discourage private enterprises.

He was informed that congestion of shipping along the north Atlantic seaboard is rapidly being relieved.
